FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Atlantic Office Machines Launches Their New Website

Chesapeake, VA – Atlantic Office Machines, Inc. will launch their new website, a website devoted to local small and mid-size businesses in the Hampton Roads area, the week of June 13th, 2016.

The new website will show AOM's updated logo and tagline, "Turning the Page on Office Technology". Those who visit will find more details about AOM's history and the team behind AOM that is dedicated to customer service. In addition, you will also find awards given to the products and services distributed by AOM such as Copystar and Kyocera, as well as updated press releases and information from these manufacturers. The website will also display Atlantic Office Machine's involvement in the community.

If you are in the government sector, you can find that AOM is stress-free to conduct business with. AOM has made it easy for government buying by providing a list of NAIC (North American Industry Classification System) codes with their descriptions and links, on the new site.

"We are extremely excited about our new website", says Lori Walker, President of Atlantic Office Machines, Inc. "It showcases our new logo and tagline while reflecting the company's culture and involvement in the community. The site is user friendly where potential buyers can do a lot of their online research about our products and office technology with a few clicks. The new website helps support fellow local businesses during the buying journey."
